

DIVERSITY

Scholarship Program

The Diversity Scholarship Program

provides financial assistance to community leaders from diverse backgrounds to attend the National Preservation Conference, to be held next in Nashville, Tennessee, October 13-17, 2009.

The Program provides financial assistance to approximately 60 community leaders from diverse social, economic, racial, ethnic and cultural backgrounds to attend the National Preservation Conference. Through interactive sessions, presentations, informal gatherings, and tours of the host city and surrounding areas, participants will learn the necessary tools to strengthen their commitment and effectiveness in preserving historic places and revitalizing communities.

The National Trust seeks culturally diverse applicants whose attendance at the Conference will benefit their communities and whose commitment to historic preservation will be reinforced by their participation. Recipients will have an opportunity to express their perspectives during the Conference and to take advantage of National Trust programs after the Conference.

Participating in the Diversity Scholarship Program at the National Preservation Conference helped me learn about a variety of preservation efforts around the country and about different employment paths in the field of preservation. It put me in a position to develop a network of professionals and others interested in preservation all over the country."
